PASTORALLY SPEAKING

November naturally turns our hearts toward thanksgiving. This month invites us to ask a simple question: Am I living thankfully, or have I begun to take the gifts of God for granted? All of life is a blessing in which we participate. It is a real gift: our families, our parish, our health, our opportunities to serve, and above all, the gift of salvation in Jesus Christ. Being thankful in Christ, however, is more than an emotion or a single holiday. It is a way of life. Every Divine Liturgy is an act of thanksgiving as we see in the Eucharist - we offer ourselves and the whole creation back to God with gratitude.

This month also carries us into the beginning of the Nativity Fast on November 15, sometimes called the St. Philip Fast. The Church does not simply drop us into Christmas on December 25. She gives us forty days to prepare by quieting the heart, ordering our life, repenting, praying, fasting, giving generously, and making room for Christ. There will be shopping, parties, schedules, advertising, and endless distractions. But the Church, invites us in another direction: inward toward prayer, outward toward those in need, and upward toward God. Advent is not meant merely to be observed on a calendar: it is meant to be experienced… to be entered into.

That idea of entering becomes the central theme on November 21, the Feast of the Entrance of the Theotokos into the Temple. The Church remembers the young Virgin Mary being brought by her parents, Joachim and Anna, into the Temple and offered to God. Her entrance points forward to the mystery of the Incarnation, for the one who enters the Temple will herself become the living Temple of God. The eternal Word is made flesh through her. Her whole life becomes an offering. She teaches us what it means to say "yes" to God—not occasionally, not halfheartedly, but with her entire being and for her entire life.

Every time we enter the church, we are being invited into a life with Christ and into a deeper relationship with Him and the people that love Him. We step out of ordinary time and into sacred time—kairos, the time with God. The church building is not merely a meeting hall, and the Divine Liturgy is not simply another event on our weekly schedule. We enter a space where heaven and earth meet, where the Scriptures are proclaimed, where Christ is present in the Eucharist, and where we stand together with the saints and angels before the Kingdom of God. We cross the threshold of the church physically, but the deeper question is whether our hearts have crossed that threshold as well.

This November we should ask ourselves more seriously: Am I doing enough to enter that sacred space with God? Am I praying faithfully, or only when I need something? Am I fasting with purpose, or looking for the easiest way around it? Am I giving to those in need? Am I forgiving others? Am I confessing my sins and struggling against the passions that keep me from Christ? Prayer, fasting, repentance, and good works awaken the heart. They teach us to become attentive to God. They prepare within us a place where Christ can dwell, our hearts purified, and our beings become a living place and tabernacle of God.

Our faith cannot remain something vague, occasional, or wishy-washy. The Christian life calls for commitment, courage, and spiritual strength.

The Theotokos entered the Temple and offered her life to God. Soon we will enter the Nativity Fast and prepare once again to receive Christ. May this November become for each of us a doorway into deeper faith. She who enters into the Temple and receives Christ with joy into her womb is the same one ushering us through the gates of heaven. She points to Him: the creator of all, the master of the universe, the merciful lover of mankind.

Let us give thanks for what God has already done, enter more fully into the sacred life of the Church, and prepare ourselves through prayer, fasting, generosity, repentance, and love. The door is open. God and all his angels and saints are calling us inward. The question is: are we willing to enter? May we enter into November with wonder and humility, and may our spiritual lives be made full and overflowing with the grace of God.

In Christ,
Fr. Ben

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Parish Office Update

Regular office hours have been established to provide parishioners with consistent times to contact or visit the church office while also allowing the Office Administrator dedicated time for training, meetings, and project work. This schedule will help manage calls and walk-ins more efficiently while ensuring that important administrative responsibilities receive the focus and time they require. We appreciate everyone's cooperation in following these office hours.

The new Office Administrator is continuing to learn the duties of the position, address work that accumulated while the position was vacant, and improve documentation of parish policies and procedures. The position supports the work of the clergy and the Board, assists various ministries, produces parish publications, and maintains parish building schedules. In addition to learning the basic components of the position, the current office workload includes reviewing and updating parish rosters, files, and systems such as email and donation envelopes; streamlining contribution recordkeeping to support the Treasurer and Financial Secretaries; and reviewing, organizing, and archiving business office documents.

Regular Office Hours: Tuesday through Friday, 10:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m.; 1:00 p.m.–3:00 p.m.

THANK YOU — Taste of Northeast

I extend a heartfelt thank you to our Taste of Northeast committee members, volunteers, donors, workers, vendors, sponsors, and our entire parish community who participated in or supported this year's festival. We again welcomed volunteers from the Pan-Orthodox community who generously gave their time to support us on festival days—what a treasure.

Many gave their time, talent, and treasure; invited and hosted friends, family, and guests; and helped welcome our neighbors and the broader community. We look forward to receiving the committee's final report on the 2026 Taste of Northeast.

In Christ,
Scott Boris
President, Board of Trustees

MUSIC NOTES:

Sacred Music: Beyond Nature

Christ is in our midst!

Music is used all around the world for a variety of functions, including celebration, storytelling, dancing, soothing the mind, and more. Despite the variety of purposes music can serve, the common denominator is that it elevates the activity it is used in. Music in the Orthodox Church is no different: we use it to elevate our worship and help draw us closer to God. It adds another dimension to the experience, helping us to experience the Liturgy through each of our senses. St. Gregory of Sinai says: "Psalmody has been given to us that we may rise from the sensory to the intellectual and true." Our sacred music is dynamic and holds a transformative power. By nature it originates from something earthly, yet by using it to glorify God, we transform our souls, taking us beyond worldly cares and placing us within the choirs of angels. As St. John Chrysostom expressed: "Nothing uplifts the soul so much, gives it wings, liberates it from the earth, releases it from the fetters of the body, makes it aspire after wisdom and deride all the cares of this life as the melody of unison and rhythm-possessing sacred songs." Together let us "lay aside all earthly cares" and join the host of angels who sing the Thrice Holy Hymn.

In Christ,
Benjamin Sawchak

Icon Class Dates

Icons as a likeness help draw us into relationship with the holy persons depicted, within our Christian journey. This is the icon's primary role. But secondly, through its formal or stylistic qualities, an icon is a spiritual tool transforming the way we see things.

- Icons through symbolism indicate divine realities which meet everyone in the place of their journey in Christ.

  Symbolism is a means of seeing a deeper meaning behind the appearance. It means the gathering together of different levels of meaning to get the essence. The opposite of symbolism, (sym = 'together with') is diabolism (dia = 'dividing against, scattering'). Symbolism is a representation that brings to light a hidden meaning.

  For example, every element in an icon brings to light a hidden meaning. The wood, with its linen covering, the egg used to mix the pigments, and the gold, together represent the natural world of matter: vegetable, animal and mineral, which are offered back to God in the work. They also remind us of the passion, death and resurrection of our Divine Lord:

  - the wood recalling the suffering on the cross;
  - the linen reminding us of the shroud enwrapping His dead body;
  - the egg being a symbol of the Resurrection.

- Taking icon class can be a spiritual discipline leading us to an unveiling a wealth of spiritual wisdom.
